Clinical and Translational Sciences Intern

Overall Summary
Overall exposure and tasks related to Clinical and Translational Sciences and all functional areas of a start-up medical device and allograft tissue company including, but not limited to, marketing, operations, sales and customer service.

This position will have a focus on support for FDA related documentation and submissions. The position requires someone with excellent written and verbal communication skills and ability to interpret and translate scientific information in a clear and concise manner. Specifically, this Product Development Intern will support the data analysis and literature review for documentation for the FDA. Responsibilities will include researching literature, assisting with technical reports, compiling data and regulatory submissions, and providing administrative support. A person with a background in the life sciences, biomedical engineering, tissue engineering, human biology is preferred. Although the main focus of this position is on providing computer research and writing support for regulatory documentation, there will occasional need to support projects in the laboratory such as preparing solutions, preparing/washing/sterilizing equipment and microscopy.

The Clinical and Translational Sciences intern will have one specific project to work on during the duration of the internship, as well as working on a variety of projects helpful for the overall day to day responsibilities of the department.

Qualifications:
We are seeking people who are Axogenic!

Teamwork
• Consistently looks for ways to support all team members’ success.
• Put’s the whole team’s/company’s priorities ahead of individual priorities.
• Involves team members appropriately in decision-making and information-sharing.

Passion
• Willing to stand up for his/her beliefs and point of view
• Consistently recognizes and focuses on the importance of the work we do, despite uncertainties and risk.
• Is optimistic and encouraging in words and actions.

Drive to Results
• Consistently anticipates and finds ways to overcome obstacles to achieving the goals
• Holds himself/herself accountable for taking tasks all the way to completion.
• Can clearly communicate important company goals and what he/she needs to do in order to accomplish them.

Customer Focus
• Considers the impact on the customer in every decision.
• Holds himself/herself to high standards of excellence to serve the customer.
• Is seen by the customer as highly responsive in every interaction.
Respect
• Demonstrates consideration for others’ ideas and contributions.
• Engages in passionate debate around issues in a positive and constructive way with appropriate language.
• Communicates truthfully, completely and directly with the person or people involved.

How to apply:
Submit resumes to resumes@axogeninc.com