

Summer 2016 Edwards Lifesciences Internships-007522

At Edwards, every innovation starts with a human inspiration.
COME BE INSPIRED.

Edwards Lifesciences offers its university talent an opportunity to create innovative, life saving devices and techniques that help physicians save the lives of patients around the world. As a global leader in treating advanced cardiovascular disease, we know that millions of people will benefit from our passion, our focus and our innovation.

Are you interested in applying for an internship project with Edwards Lifesciences in 2016? Our internship recruitment period is from February through May 2016. Specific internship projects will be identified during this time for which qualified candidates will be contacted for further discussion. In the meantime, please apply to postings on your school career center website or on Edwards.com/Careers and we will be contacting qualified candidates starting March 2016.
